

The Virgin Islands

DAILY NEWS

A Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaper

The Mini Pages
Pages 22-25

TUESDAY JUNE 28, 2011

80th year, No. 22113

Copyright © 2011 Daily News Publishing Co.

A Caribbean problem

Humane Society International official tours V.I. shelter
Pages 2-4

Daily News Photo by SEAN MCCOY

Dogs await adoption at the St. Thomas Humane Society shelter.

WAPA approves $391 million budget

Page 6

Money flap causes pageant to rethink rules

Page 7

Park isn't ready for Festival

Page 8

Jury convicts ex-governor Blagojevich

Page 13

Williams sisters out at Wimbledon

Back Page

Court rules on violent games

Page 11

Earth has brush with asteroid

Page 15

College Access Challenge Grant Program.
For information on planning, preparing
& financing college contact the College
Access Challenge Grant Program at dlake@uvi.edu

Apply today www.FAFSA.gov

UVI Federal School Codes:
o St. Thomas --- 003946
o St. Croix ----- 006989

For more information contact
Office of Financial Aid at 639-1090, St. Thomas or
692-4193, St. Croix

University of the Virgin Islands
Helping to fund your higher education needs.

Daily News Photo by SEAN McCOY

Cats await adoption at the St. Thomas Humane Society shelter.

A question of shelter or prevention

By KAREN HOLLISH | Daily News Staff

A box of tiny, mewling kittens discarded in a Dumpster. A mother dog and her unplanned litter of puppies thrown in the bush. An underfunded animal shelter's staff struggling to keep up with the community's continuous supply of unwanted cats and dogs.

Alexandra Rothlisberger, program manager for Humane Society International's Latin American and Caribbean division, saw all this and more during her visit to St. Thomas and St. John.

See HUMANE SOCIETY, next page

ISSN 2159-3019
Daily News Publishing Company Inc. owned by Times-Shamrock Communications publishes The Virgin Islands Daily News daily, except Sunday, Christmas Day and New Year's Day, at 9155 Estate Thomas, Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, VI 00802. First class postage paid at Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas. U.S.V.I.

The Virgin Islands DAILY NEWS

A Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaper
© 2011 Daily News Publishing Co.

Calendar	27	Nation & World....	13-17
Classifieds	33-46	Opinions	18-19
Comics.....	28-31	Police Reports	10
Crossword	31	Sports	46-52
Cruise Ships	5	Sudoku	46
Horoscope	29	TV Schedule	26-27
Lottery Results	12	Weather	12

Contact us

Publisher
Jason Robbins
774-8772 ext. 307
jrobbins@dailynews.vi

Executive Editor
J. Lowe Davis
774-8772 ext. 350
lowedavis@dailynews.vi

E-mail
dailynews@vipowernet.net

Advertising
St. Thomas-St. John
774-8772
Fax: 774-6886

St. Croix
773-4425
Fax: 719-3000

Classifieds
714-2222
Fax: 774-6116

Mail
9155 Estate Thomas
St. Thomas, VI 00802

Opinions
774-8772 ext. 350

News
St. Thomas-St. John
774-8772 ext. 340
Fax: 776-0740

St. Croix
773-4425
Fax: 773-1621

Sports
774-8772 ext. 357
Fax: 776-0740

Circulation
774-8772 ext. 361

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: One dollar daily. Other subscription rates available on request. The publisher reserves the right to change subscription rates during the term of a subscription with 30 days notice. The notice may be made by mail to the subscriber, by notice contained in the newspaper itself or otherwise. Subscription changes may be implemented by changing the duration of the subscription.

ONLINE SUBSCRIPTIONS:
virginislandsdailynews.newspaperdirect.com

Printed on recycled paper

Daily News Photos by SEAN MCCOY

Humane Society of St. Thomas volunteers Danielle Olive, left, and Malik Hunt hold up two dogs available for adoption.

HUMANE SOCIETY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 2

Humane Society International is a branch of the country's largest animal-protection organization, the Humane Society of the United States.

Rothlisberger came to learn about the territory's animal-welfare issues, assess local programs' strengths and weaknesses and share ideas with residents working in the field. She said she decided to visit the territory after she met Dellia Holodenschi, director of the Humane Society of St. Thomas' Cat Café Program, at a conference held earlier this year.

Soon after her arrival last month from Washington, D.C., Rothlisberger talked to The Daily News about the state of companion animals across the Caribbean. Island nations are struggling with pet overpopulation as consistently more animals are born than there are homes for them, Rothlisberger said.

Many governments, humane organizations and well-meaning individuals think the best way to respond to pet overpopulation is to build a new shelter or improve the one that already exists, Rothlisberger said.

Alexandra Rothlisberger

That is not, however, what Humane Society International recommends. Instead of putting money into a major capital project, communities should invest those funds into low-cost spay and neuter clinics and community education, Rothlisberger said. Those approaches prevent unwanted litters from being born in the first place, she said.

"What we're seeing on the islands is organizations still have a lack of resources, in terms of finances and personnel," Rothlisberger said. "They're scrambling to do the day-to-day jobs."

Almost all of the territory's companion animal problems — such as dealing with cruelty cases, community cats and abandoned pets — fall on the shoulders of local shelters.

While the V.I. Agriculture Department is charged with these tasks, the department, through an annual allotment from the central government's miscellaneous fund, pays the island's humane organizations to do the vast majority of that work for them.

Sally Nelson, shelter manager for the Animal Care Center of St. John, said the central government's share accounts for less than 10 percent of the organization's budget, and managers from the other shelters

See HUMANE SOCIETY, next page

Euthanasia

Figures from 2010

St. Thomas

2,000

Number of animals taken in by the Humane Society of St. Thomas.

1,580

Number euthanized because of sickness, temperament problems or lack of shelter space.

420

Number adopted into new families or returned to their owners

St. Croix

3,600

Number of animals taken in by the St. Croix Animal Welfare Center.

3,000

Number euthanized because of sickness, temperament problems or lack of shelter space.

600

Number adopted into new families or returned to their owners

St. John

62

Number of dogs and cats adopted out of the Animal Care Center of St. John — a mostly no-kill shelter.

6

Number euthanized because of sickness or temperament problems.

— Figures provided by shelter staff. Some numbers are approximate.

Public support for shelters

How much the central government spent on animal shelters in Fiscal Year 2010:

- About $90,000 for the Humane Society of St. Thomas
- About $130,000 for the St. Croix Animal Welfare Center
- About $13,500 for the Animal Care Center of St. John

— Source: V.I. Agriculture Commissioner Louis Petersen Jr., whose department is charged with enforcing the territory's animal welfare regulations and anti-cruelty laws.

Education

Want the education but don't need the license? Learn everything that a Captain learns (Save 50%).

THE CAPTAIN SCHOOL

USVI

(340) 775-2278

American Yacht Harbor, Red Hook, St. Thomas

TheCaptainSchool@gmail.com • www.CaptainSchoolUSVI.com

Monday-Friday 8am-12noon & By Appointment

Owner
Capt. John Holmberg

Local Color

"the name says it all"

Monkey See...Monkey Do...

The Kipling Monkey Wants To Travel With You!

kipling

For All Your Summer Travel Needs!

Waterfront 774-2280 / Havensight Mall 774-3182

PLAZA EXTRA

The Virgin Islands' Favorite Supermarkets

Shop Plaza Extra Supermarkets for largest selection of groceries offered at the best prices.

Meats • Seafood • Produce
Liquor • Beer • Wine

Shop today for in-store specials only offered on Tuesdays. See tomorrow's Virgin Islands Daily News for awesome weekly specials.

Open Daily 7AM - 11PM • 365 Days A Year

Tutu Park Mall, St Thomas • 775-5646
Estate Plessen, St Croix • 719-1870
Sion Farm, St Croix • 778-6240

Daily News Photo by SEAN McCOY

Humane Society International representative Alexandra Rothlisberger tours the new Humane Care Campus on St. Thomas.

HUMANE SOCIETY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

have long said that the government funding falls short.

"I know what they have been receiving for the contracts is not sufficient," Agriculture Commissioner Louis Petersen Jr. said, adding that he hopes the amounts can be increased once the territory's fiscal crisis abates.

Local impressions

When Rothlisberger steps off her plane and onto other Caribbean islands, she often is greeted by the sight of hungry-looking stray dogs and cats. She said she noticed right away at King Airport that there are fewer unowned cats and dogs roaming the streets here.

On her second day in the territory, Rothlisberger spent several hours at the Humane Society of St. Thomas shelter in Estate Nadir. She said she was impressed with the formal procedures and policies shelter manager Annabel Hiltz had put into place and that the shelter's outdoor cat enclosures — also known as catteries — are the best way to keep cats healthy and happy while they wait to be adopted.

The euthanasia rates are high, Rothlisberger said, but the staff is working as effectively as they can in the face of limited space, money and time.

Rothlisberger said she noticed the St. Thomas community is sharply divided by the Cat Café Program, in which feral cats are trapped, spayed or neutered and then released back into the area from which they came. Holodenschi, who founded the program, enlists volunteers to provide the

Local resources

Find a new friend, get help spaying or neutering your pet, or volunteer at one of these groups.

Humane Society of St. Thomas PO. Box 8150 St. Thomas, VI 00801 775-0599 www.hsstt.com	Animal Care Center of St. John PO Box 429 St. John, VI 00831 774-1625 www.stjohnanimalcarecenter.com
St. Croix Animal Welfare Center RR 2 No. 32 Clifton Hill Kingshill, VI 00850 778-1650 www.stcroixawc.org	Spay/Neuter Island Pets SNIP helps low-income pet owners and those who care for cat colonies afford sterilization surgery for their animals.

cats with food and water. Rothlisberger talked with some St. Thomians who take issue with this approach and would rather euthanize the cats.

Despite such schisms, which Rothlisberger said are common across communities, the Cat Cafés are serving a good purpose by making people aware of the homeless cats, she said.

"The issue has surfaced, so the community is finally talking about it," Rothlisberger said. "It's getting the community involved."

The Cat Café Program is one of the most innovative ways she has seen a Caribbean community address its feral cat program, Rothlisberger said.

Rothlisberger's visit to St. John was too brief to form a solid opinion of its shelter operations, she said, and she was not able to travel to St. Croix on this trip.

On her last day here, Rothlisberger visited the new Humane Society of St. Thomas' campus off Weymouth Rhymer Highway and across from Market Square East.

Officials say the long-awaited, nearly $8 million campus finally will open in July.

While Humane Society International recommends shelters spend their money on spaying and neutering instead of brick-and-mortar buildings, now that the new campus is built, the society should use its classroom facilities to spread awareness of pet overpopulation, Rothlisberger said.

"I see a lot of potential here," Rothlisberger said as she stood in the courtyard of the cutting-edge, nearly 13,000-square-foot campus that will replace the crumbling shelter in Estate Nadir.

"I hope that once they open," she added, "they follow through with education."

Do you have Cancer from Smoking?	THE PATE LAW FIRM 777-5270 SunLawVI.com	Do you have Cancer from refinery work?
--	---	--